- 3 CHAIRS - 3 EVENTS - V1.0

Health & Wellness doesn't fix anyone. It provides access and resources. Three pillars - mental, financial, physical - spread across the year as external, community-facing events. The goal is to show up for Atlanta the same way E100 shows up for its students.

to what they need.

Events are staggered – not clustered. Aligned with awareness months where possible.

Beyond the 3 pillars – community wellness includes housing access and equity-focused programming.

THE NORTH STAR

"We cannot fix anyone – but we can ensure they have access." This is the operating philosophy of Health & Wellness. E100 is not a clinical organization. It is a connector. When someone leaves a Health & Wellness event, they should leave with a resource, a contact, a next step – not just a feeling. Access is the product.

Community-facing, not internal. Unlike Emerging Development (which invests in members), Health & Wellness serves the broader Atlanta community. These are public events. Anyone can attend. This is E100 showing up for the city – not just the students it directly mentors.

Align to awareness moments. Men's Mental Health Month (June), Financial Literacy Month (April), National Minority Health Month (April), Black Mental Health Matters Week – the calendar gives H&W natural hooks for each event. Meet the community where the conversation is already happening.
